BERLIN, Jan. in.—Haron Von Richtofen, Secretary for Poreign Agairs, answering Herr Hanse, declared the German government was aware that the Russian Embassy employed an official to watch over Russian anarchists in Germany, but the government was not aware that German subjects were likewise under observation. The government also was not aware that Russian agents had committed crimes or attempted to persande others to commit crimes. The Chancellor, continued the Foreign Secretary, did, not intend to interfere, because he regarded it as advisable that foreign anarchists should be observed by agents of their own country.

The Semate then took up and adopted the motion of Mr. Lodgs to refer the Postoffice Department resolution to the Committee on Postoffices. The action was taken without further debate.

The Gorman Panama resolution was laid before the Senate, and Mr. Quarist took the floor. He contended that up to the time of the recognition of the independence of Panama. the United States had done nothing beyond sending our warships to the harbors of Panama and Colon.

Mr. Quaries defended the President against the charge of the desertion of the Nicaragua canal, when he did not succeed in his negotiations with Colombia for a canal at Panama. He said on the latter point that there was no intervening time between the failure in Bogota and the convening of the American Congress.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

WASHINGTON, Jan. 18.—In response to a questice from Mr. Pallon, Mr. Quaries said it 'accessarily follows that the obligations of the treaty remain unimpaired, but are transferred from Colombia to Panama. The treaty attaches to the land, he said, and we are bound to Panama to protect that country even against Columbia, which is now a foreign power.

Mr. Patterson opposed the canal treaty. An extended controvery occurred between him and Mr. Spooner involving many minute points of difference. They stood close together in the main asis of the Senate talking freely to each other, though at all times manifesting the utmost good-will. The situation was contrary to Mr. Pattur's idea of parliamentary proprieties, and he made the point of order that conversation were not in accordance with

TESTIMONY ABOUT PUMPS ON THE SUNKEN CLALLAM.

SEATTLE (Wash.) Jan. 13.—Af to-day's session of the investigation into the loss of the steamer Clailam, J. L. Skkins, an oiler, stated that at about 1:15 p.m., January 8, he placed the circulating pump on the bilge, and wishin thirty minutes the water had risen to a sufficient height to put out the fires. In that event, according to the inspectors, the engines would have stopped in about two hours' run out from Victoria. The Clailam at that time must have been well to the Port Townsend side.

According to Chief Engineer De Launsy, the Clailam had been steaming in the direction of Victoria for at least an hour and a half before he noticed the water coming in. In any event, the ship had seen taking water for more than an hour before the captain was notified of her condition.

INDIAN FOUND MURDERED.

BRAINS DASHED OUT.

(BY THE ASSICIATED PRESS-P.M.)

UKIAH, Jan. 18.—Peter Lamar, an Indian, was found dead this morning a short distance from town. He had been brutally murdered. In company with several other indiams, he came to town last night and after obtaining some liquor went to the cabin of Jeff Dick. It is supposed a drunken row resulted and Lamar was killed by his companions. The body was found half a mile from where a pool of blood showed the murder had occurred. A handkerchief had been tied around the indian's throat and his brains dashed out with stones. Tracks from the scene indicate that three men and a squaw carried the body to where it was found. Four suspects are under arrest. BRAINS DASHED OUT.

ildhall Packed to Suffoce Listen to Former Colonial Secre-tary Expound His Views—Free Trade "Ancient Financial Super-etition."

(BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS-A.M.) LONDON, Jan. 19.- [By Atlantic Caie.] The Guildhall was packed to sufocation today to bear Joseph Cham-periain speak. Chamberiain, who was accompanied chamberiain, who was accompanied by his wife, sectived a great ovation. He began by declaring that the pro-vincial centers of commerce of the United Kingdon had been heard from in regard to his tariff proposals, but the views of the citizens of London were not yet known. He desired to ascertain how the city men felt on the subject of his scheme before the open-ing of Parliament. He then proceeded reiterate his well-known subject of his scheme before the opening of Parliament. He then proceeded to reiterate his well-known fiscal views.

He pointed out that while London was now the clearing house of the world, he doubted if this position could be maintained if the ancient fiscal superstitions were to be upheld. Before it was too late, a lesson snould be learned from the fate of Venice, itoiland and the Hanseatic states, whose greatness had vanished because they have no productive and creative energy behind them. London would no longer be the world's clearing house if Great Britain's relations with her colonies and the great neutral countries of the world were disturbed by a diminution in the mutiplicity of the extent of the transactions which hitherto had been creating new wealth.

His opponents claimed, he said, that the recent Board of Trade returns destroyed his contentions, but he intended to hase his future arguments on these returns, as they prove that the growth of foreign exportations to the British colonies had greatly exceeded the growth of exportations from the motheriand. The position of Great Britain was deteriorating, and though he anticipated no immediate catastrophe, the stustion called loudly for some remedy. The lessons of the past must be applied and the framework of a new empire must be built up under new conditions by adopting the protective policy adopted by every civilized naßon, and creating new bonds of union with the colonies.

Said the speaker: "Profiting by the experience gained when the finest jewel the British Empire ever possessed, the United States, lieft us for a separate existence a new empire has arisen, greater than any in the world, but the great work of keeping and making permanent this heritance remains to be solved. In the great revolt which separated the United States from Great Britain, the great work of seeping and making permanent this heritance, that the revolution recognized, in my judgment was Tlexander Hamilton, the solder-statesman. He left a precious legacy to his countrymen when

"UNDIGESTED STATISTICS."

[BT THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

LONDON, Jan. 13.—Almost simultaneously with Chamberlain's exposition of his policy in the Guildhall, the Duke of Devonshire and Lord George Hamilton addressed at Liverpoel an equally enthusiastic, it/smaller meeting, which was held under the auspices of the Unionist Free Food League.

The Duke of Devonshire said he was coming more and more to believe that the government was right in advocating a policy of retaliation against protectionist countries, but with Premier Balfour allowing himself to be so dragged into the Chamberlain propaganda, it would be impossible for the unionists to maintain their alignment with the government before the country if it was desired to differentiate between retaliation and protection. with the government before the country if it was desired to differentiate between retailation and protection. When he justified the government's position before the House of Lords, the speaker continued, he believed there would be a real inquiry into the trade conditions of the United Kingdom, and he had not then thought that this inquiry would be limited to the production of an undigsetted mass of statistics coupled with an academical treatise by the Premier. He said he feared the Chamberiain commission, representing the highly-organized industries, would be able to prenare a tariff scheme whereby they would benefit; and they would be able to force it onto the country, to the detriment of the consumer and the less well-organized manufacturer. The meeting passed a resolution, which was offered by Lord George Hamilton and seconded by Winston Churchill, M.P., declaring agaist a general protective system.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS AM]
ST. LOUIS, Jan. 19.—The funeral of James L. Blair, former general counsel of the World's Pair, who died last Saturday in Bustis, Fin.; was held today from the residence of his sister, Mrs. B. B. Graham.

None but relatives and close friends of the family sitended the services.
Blair's remains were placed at rest beside those of his father, Gen. Frank P. Blair, in Bellefontaine cometery. The pallbearers were old friends.
Before the casket was brought from the house there was a threat that the funeral would not move unless a carriage belonging to a proseribed livery firm and driven by a man not approved by the union drivers of the other carriages was taken out of line. Assurance was given that the carriage would not be kept in line and the matter ended.

RUMOR SURPRISES POPE.

ROME, Jan. 19.—The rumor of the death of the Pope, which was circulated in Madrid, having come to the ears of the Pontiff, Ris Holiness exclaimed to a friend: "What, already! Leo was left in peace for five years after his election, while with me these rumors have begun at the end of unity a few months. It may be a good thing to look at this from a superstitious standpoint, but I am quite the other way, and think it may even prolong my life." NOTORIOUS FORGER CAUGHT.

LONDON, Jan. IS.—Wright was cross-examined concerning his departure for the United States. He said that at the time he felt justified in leaving, in view of what had been said in Parliament. He admitted that while managing director of one company he would sell to himself as managing director of another.

Questioned on the subject of various items in the balance sheet of 1888, he asserted that the sheet was "straight as a die." He would never admit anything wrong therewith. The case was adjourned.

Why should the city do for office

h this problem is for the city to the work of cleaning up vacant and charge the expense against property itself, in all cases where the work. The charge against the property should become a lien upon it unti- paid, the same as taxes levied the State, county or city. If, as seems, this course is not authorized State Legislature, and so time should be lost in getting the matter before that body at the next session. There so not the least probability that such a measure as is needed will meet a measure as is needed will meet with any serious opposition from any quarter. Its manifest justice, no less than its obvious expediency, should consumend it to expense of the law. Under the circumstances it was the duty of the fusitive to submit personnel.

The special committee of the Countil appointed to consider this mat-ter will doubtless prepare a measure which will meet the requirements of the situation. The Council should ature in the early part of the next session of that body. Favorable action, as we have said, is more than probable, thus putting at rest for all time a question which, though apparently not a matter of serious importance, has caused no end of annoyance in this city, and which has, in a portance, has caused no end of annoy-nortance has caused no end of annoy-ance in this city, and which has, in a injury to the way, been a source of injury to the pity, by detracting from its general at the instigation of the elder: and

In his speech at the Bryan banquet the Platte River orator declared that the Kanasa City platform of 1800 was sound in every plank and must be reliterated at the St. Louis convention of 1901. All of which would appear to pressage a beautiful rumpus quite equal to the one that set the wild echoes giving in the Chicago Coliseum in 1896. Those Dumocrais who have been assuming that the sentleman and orator from Lincoln is not to be reckened with in this year of grace will be given a few months of more of less valuable time in which to revise their opinions of the political situation.

WEATHER FOR ALL.

It rained in Los Angeles a few drops; and the next day it snowed, back East, to the depth of seveni inches and the mercury went down to 40 deg. below zero, or mich a matter. America is a great big country—big enough and broad enough to within its borders at the same instan might until broad daylight and then went home with the girls in the morning. Those were haleyon days when the matter of weather cut no figure, when spirits were high and hopes were higher, when the blood leaped in the veins at a clipping gait and when sil the skies were blue, even though the snow was averaging across though the snow was aweeping across the meadows and piling in chilly heaps above the hedgerows. In California we escape those winter experiences that have such a fond place price of coal is on the up grade. The really hard work of the programme fell to Harry Barnhart, who had a goodly list of heavy songs arranged in groups presenting unusual tests of endurance to any voice. His dramatic fire and abandon in Schubert's "Er! King" entused his listeners, although unfortunately the basso was much lacking as to voice toward the close. "The Er! King" was preceded immediately by two difficult Schubert numbers, and at the end of them the singer ought to have had a rest. Some of Korbay's Hungarian airs, quaint and wild and strong, were sung by Mr. Barnhart at the close of the programme.

perience meeting.

Oxnard is a delightful place—a saccharine spot that beets the world, literally.

The blithesome bees swarm thereabouts—but they are not political bees, for the latter seek the political clover-plaches in the vicinity of Los Angeles.

Mr. Oxnard is a beet-sugar man, not an apiarist—but it's been whispered for, lo, these many months, that Mr. Oxnard is a beet-sugar man, oxnard is taking an active interest in watching the movements and listening to the bumming in the political aplary.

Perhaps that's why Mr. Oxnard is spending a few months in Los Angeles.

THE SENATORSHIP.

At divere times during the past few months Mr. Oxnard has been "mentioned" as a possible candidate for United states Benator.

To me "mentioned" in connection with a political honor may mean almost anything. It may mean that a man is working like a Trojan to capture a nomination; or that his friends are instring that be jump into the race willy-nilly; or that he is quietly sizing up the situation with a view to the formal announcement of his candidacy, provided things shape themselves just right; or that he will run if the people insist upon it—or that he wouldn't take the nomination or election if tendered to him on a gold, gem-studded platter.

Mr. Oxnard has been "mentioned"—and an effort was made yesterday to "classity" him. The interview follows, and you are now at liberty to do as much guessing as you wish as to where Mr. Oxnard stands:

"Have you made or do you intend to now make formal announcement of your candidacy?"

"No: I cannot very well do so."

"But you have considered the matter, have you made or more."

"Have you conferred with others on the subject?"

"Tes, to some extent."

"Have you tailed with Senator Bard.

all over the house; neither saint nor sinner could resist the pathos of that song.

Evangelist Allen made a strong appeal to these who may just have dropped in to hear the singing, with no intention of seeking salvation. He announced that he and Dr. McIntyre were preachig a three-fold gospel-grace to the sinner, return to the back-allder and holiness to believer.

Dr. McIntyre melted the hearts of the hearers with stories of the bid home, and the joy of getting back once more and greeting the loved ones. He made the obvious application to the eternal home. He because the solutions of sweet aligning and eloquent pleading as prevailed last night. He told how the preacher; as a last resort, called upon the members of the church to prove to him and before God, that all was love, and peace, and harmony between member and member. The result was astonishing; for all over the house brethren and sisters confessed to discordant conditions, and in open meeting made peace one with the other. Then followed the flocking of sortes to the altar, and a revival began that night that lasted for two years and swept over a large section of country, bringing thousands of ainners to repentance.

Following this recital, Dr. McIntyre gave the invitation for a show of results upon the unconverted, but not one moved. He tried in savarul ways but it was no use.

"Well," he said, "I don't understand this. If have said anything of constants."

CHICAGO, Jan. 18.—An order has been issued by Judge Chetlain restraining the Whitney Electrical and Development Company from attempting to confiscate stock which has been assessed by the company. The company is a South Dakota corporation said to be capitalized for $35,009,000, based on the theory and ideas of Attorney Albert G. Whitney, who asserts that he is able by a mechanical device to obtain electricity for heating and power purposes from air and ether.

Tom Williams of the San Francisco track, a 10-to-1 shot, and Adam Andrew, after whom a selling stake is named at the Oukland track, were what/might be called the features of the day, for the card was only a fair one and there were no special features aside from the arrival of the visiting racing magnates and the long shot. "Send for a policeman, quick. There is a dead baby on that doorstep, and if I leave they will think I placed it if I have they will think I placed it there."

Such was the startling statement which George Dunn, a solicitor for the Diamond Coal Company, made to a pedestrian whom he saw passing the residence of Valentine Peyton, No. 657 Westlake avenue, in the fashionable Bonnie Brae district, yesterday afternoon. He pointed to a little body lying in the doerway as convincing evidence.

A telephone message was at once sent to the home of Special Officer Foster, who patrois that district. He was in bed, but the message which reached him was that a child had been killed and placed on a doorstep, and he lost no time in responding.

He found Dunn standing on the porch, pale as death, the perspiration standing out on his foreshead in great beads. As soon as he could find his voice he isld the officer that he had called at Mr. Peyton's house to take an order for coal, and had opened the streen door to ring the bell, when he called at Mr. Peyton's house to take an order for coal, and had opened the screen door to ring the bell, when he saw a bundle on the floor. On closer examination he saw human hair pretruding at one end, and at the other a pair of they feet. Then he touched the body and at once knew that he had found a corpse. In the semi-darkness of the doorway he had not closely examined it.

Foster made an investigation and soon found that something was wrong; wrong with Dunn's conclusion as to what he had found. When he unwrapped the bundle he found a magnificent doll, almost life size, the head of which was adorned with real-hair.

Then the truth came out. Mr. Peyton's family is away, and a servant had been instructed to send certain settless of clothing to them. In packing a nuit case he had tried to put in the doll, but finding that he could not pack it properly, and having only a limited time to catch the train, he laid the doll between the front floor and the screen.

Union Adopts the Usual Tectics in Attempt to Force Employers to Terms.

Journeymen bookbinders of the city, of the totem brand, have started a strike and yesterday quit their jobs. They only asked the privilege of running their employers' binderies to suit themselves and to confiscate the profits.

Incidentally, the unionites insisted upon cinching the apprentices and practically close the shops to ambitious young men eager to learn a trade. The demands of the laborites in detail are most absurd. According to the proposed union rule an apprentice must serve five years in a single branch, and an additional year for every additional branch of the trade mastered. At this rate the best part of a lifetime must needs be devoted to gaining an all-around knowledge of the business.

The union further dictates the age of employes, wants to relieve the employer of the trouble of choosing his own workmen and would pass upon all applicants.

For some time, particularly since

The people are sore now because they laim the Superivsors have let Pete break loose again under the very thin ruise of a restaurant liquor license. They claim that the same old boose selling and the same old gambling games are still going on.

District Attorney Fredericks was appealed to. He is always hot on the trail of blind pigs. He tent a man up. The detectives remained there several days in the hotel controlled by Lopes, but found nothing out of the way and came home without svidence.

The place where Lopes operates is the Chatsworth Park Hotel. It is the only building of any size in the town—a barreen old rookery owned by the Darius Mead estate. It is rented to Lopes in the name of his wife's mother—Mrs. C. H. Beckel.

The Chatsworth Park people claim that an aged plate of degenerate crackers on the dining room table, gased at with respect, is the only meal you are obliged to eat in order to get liquor there.

They claim that it is a common cast from

It is to be observed, however that about train time at Chatsworth there is a unanimous movement for the side door of the hotel—a concentrated inspiration on the says of the male.

STILL A CANDIDATE.

DAVENPORT HAS HOPES.

Councilman Davenport is very destrous that his friends stail understand that he has not retired from politics. Last Saturday he announced that he was no longer a candidate for the Republican nomination for Mayor. This, he fears, has caused the impression to go forth that he has retired from the political arena. Yesterday Davenport said that he is still a candidate for reflection to the Council from the Sixth Ward. "I was making a fine race for the Mayoralty," said Davenport, "when I found that my friend, will Stephens, was a candidate, too. So I side-tracked to give him a clear right-of-way. I expect to use my influence in helping elect Stephens. In the meantime I expect to eccupy my seat in the Council at least two years longer."

ELEVATOR DID IT. T. F. McDonald is suing Margaret Irvine, as owner of the Byrne Block at the corner of Third street and Broadway, for damages alleged to have been incurred through the negligence of the elevator boy. On November 13, when about to step into the elevator at the Third floor, it shot upward throwing him violently to the floor. McDonald says that he suffered serious injuries and that he was put to an expense of $150 for surgical and other attendance, and for this amount, with $5000 as damages, he now asks judgment.

Health Board Would Abate Carbon Nuisances—City Council Asked for Quarantine Impector.

Smoke and soot comprised the joint target struck at by the Board of Health last night. L. Baruch was heard in behalf of complainants respecting the discharge of carbon flakes and lampblack particles from the gas works of the Los Angeles Lighting Company at Aliso and Aurora streets. The board ordered the abatement of the nuisance within thirty days.

Following that action the board requested the City Council to adopt an ordinance giving the board more power to abate smoke nuisances.

The City Council was also asked to authorize the appointment of a quaranting inspector whose duty should be to enforce the sanitary ordinances in cases of scarlet fever, diphtheria and other contagious diseases where houses are placarded. Heretofore, it is said, the board has been unable to enforce the quarantine regulations at such places because of insufficient help.

For six failures to gather garbage the garbage collector was fined it.

It was not a case of three giants being literally shoved out of the room by a stripling, as Mr. James had tried to make it appear in this county. Today arguments cross-examination of the witner JAMES PASSES THE BUCK.

JAMES PASSES THE BUCK.

At this point Mr. Davis of counsel for the defense stated to the court that the defense would, as a matter of courtesy, extend to the prosecution the opportunity of reopening that side of the case by calling a witness that both sides had been searching for, but who had been discovered only since the prosecution closed. Davis understood that Mr. James had had an interview with this important witness and the defense considered it as no more than fair and courteous that the prosecution should have the first chance to get this man's testimony. Mr. James did not seem to appreciate this kind offer, but with an Alphonse and Gaston air begged the defense to take the first whack at the new witness, remarking at the same time that the prosecution would call him in rebuttal if deemed necessary.

would not after the facts in regard to the killing of Louis Choisser, for which alone, the defendants are on trial.

The contention of the prosecution that Louis Choisser was unarmed when he met his death and did not fire on the affects, rests on the filmsy testimony or a pipe-dreamy youth, named Clough, with a grudge against the detectives, and who has been proved a liar by almost every other witness in the case.

MORNING SESSION.

DEFENDANTS ON THE STAND.
When the Choisser hearing was returned at 10 o'clock yesterday morning. Deputy District Attorney James renewed the attack by further cross-ramination of Detective Murphy, one at the defendants. He tried to make Murphy schnowledge that his testinosy given Saturday afternoom differed in important particulars from his arriles statements regarding the whooting of young Choisser. The attempt failed to disclose any serious discrepancies in Murphy's version of the tragidy as given at any time.

Murphy stack to the point that he was certain that young Choisser freed he dirst shot in the hall, for he saw he fissh of Choisser's gun at the same time be heard the report. He could not say for a certainty which way the sea he should come out of his room into the young man was still alive, in the country of the hall to watch for the old man in case he heard the report. He could not say for a certainty which way the summary man and meaning man was still alive, in the country of the same time spointing at the same time spointing as revolver in his committee to the stairway, where a little north of the stairway where a little north of

AFTER THE KILLING.

Cowen testified further that after Murphy got young Choisser's gun and resumed his position at the corner of the hall to watch for the old man in case he should come out of his room to renew the attack, he (Cowen) thinking the young man was still alive, dragged the body northward past the door of room 57, in the hope that some one would come to look after him.

Up to this time Cowen saw no one in the hall except Murphy and himself and the dead man. He saw no one stick his head out of the transom of room 68 (Clough's room) and he was sure no one opened the door of that room and looked out. He did see the door of room 60 open. A man named Toung poked his head out. Cowen ordered him to get back and he did so. After witness had moved Choisser's body, Murphy told him to go downstairs and ring for the patrol wagon. He did so, leaving Murphy alone in the hall with the body. He was gone about three minutes. When he returned Murphy was still on guard at the corner of the hall, and a young man wearing a black mackintosh was at the body, holding the head on his knee. There was another man close by, but witness didn't take particular notice of him. Other people soon came around the body, from the north end of the ball.

Witness went to the body to examine it, and in cominct with the man in the mackintose felt a gon.

in his hip pocket. He took it away from the man, and after taking out the cartridges put it into his own pocket. Later this man came to him and sked for his gun, saying he was an officer and had to go. He wore some sort of a badge and witness gave him back his gun and witness gave the impression that the man was a night watchman. Witness never saw him afterward and did not know who he was. On cross-examination by Mr. James Cowen said he was under the impression at first that he had fired three shots at young Choisser, and so testified at the Coroner's inquest, but he was greatly excited at that time and may have made some mistakes in his testimony. On reflection he had arrived at the conclusion that he had fired only two shots in the hall. He could not tell for a certainty how many shots he fired that night, by the number of empty shells in his revolver after the shooting was over, because he sometimes carried one empty shell for the hammer of the gun to rest upon, and he had forgotten whether he had one empty or not before the shooting began.

Cowen said he thought he was cool and not rattled while the trouble lasted but admitted that he got excited afterward and was very nervous at the Coroner's inquest.

AFTERNOON SESSION

At the opening of the afternoon session, Mr. Rogers, for the defense, offered in evidence a certified copy of the warrant issued by a justice of the peace in Illinois for the arrest of Joseph Cholsser on the charge of obtaining money under false pretenses. Mr. James, of the prosecution, objected on the ground that the certificate did not bear the seal of any court. TESTIMONY CONCLUDED.

ORANGE. Jan. 19.—The directors of the Santa Ana Valley Irrigation Company are informed that O. B. Fuller and others, who were permanently enjoined by Judge Bledsoe in the Riverside Superior Court last November from diverting the waters of the Santa Ana River to irrigate lands outside the natural watershed, have continued to take out the waters in their canais. It is even claimed that Fuller and others have never closed their original irrigating ditches, but have continually abstracted the waters sightfully belonging, according to the decision of the court, to the stockholders of the Santa Ana Valley Irrigation Company. Legal action will likely be taken by the irrigating company. The case against Fuller at the time of its trial attracted wide attention on account of the questions of riparian water rights involved.

MURDER RECALLED.

MURDER RECALLED.

MURDER RECALLED.

A vicious and cold-blooded murder in this county is recalled in the recent effort of Romusido Olivas, to secure parole from the State prison at San Quentin. Estanislaus, a peaceful old Indian, was cruelly murdered here in 1881. Olivas, a man named Jesus Sona and Vicente García, it was alleged, were the men who did fibe killing, though really García had nothing whatever to do with it. An aged negro, known as Ben Elmore, a character of the olden days, and who was the only Indian court interpreter, is said to have dragged García into the case through jealousy. García had stolen the affections of Elmore's woman, and the night of the murder was really with her, but this he could not prove because of the corrupting and the misinterpretation of Indian witnesses by Elmore. García died in jail.

EVENTS IN LOCAL SOCIETY.

THE prying sprite of embodied curiosity has again loosened the neway tongue of Dame Rumor. This worthy now whispers of another love affair concerning two well-known young people in Los Angeles—Miss Gertrude Keller and Lelande Bagley, Miss Keller is at present ingenue of the James Neill Company, now playing at the Burbank Theater, while Mr. Bagley is a member of the Symphony Orchestra, and one of Hartey Hamilton's musicians at the Mason Operahouse. The romantic little news bird caught yesterday says that Miss Keller's stage life will end with the conclusion of the Neills' present engagement at the

A. C. Freeman's Answer in Big Real Estate Deal.

Resists the Claim of Stanton and Van Alstyne.

Accuses Them of False and Fraudulent Conduct.

The inwardness of the alleged smooth dealing in connection with the negotiations for the sale of portions of the Centinella Rancho are becoming apparent, now that the papers in the suit pending have been filed on both sides. Phil A. Stanton, State Assemblyman, and C. W. Van Alstyne, for a short term Superintendent of the school at Whietier, are partners in a real estate business in the city, and a short time are began suit against Archie C. Freeman its recover $25,000, in round figures, for commissions claimed for selling parts of the Centinella Rancho. The original complaint has been patched up twice and now the second amended complaint has been filed, and yesterdays Byron L. Oliver, attorney for Freeman, filed an answer and cross-complaint, in which the claims of the politico-commercial firm are denied and wiped out, and a counterclaim put in for $15,500.

It was in April, 1902, that Freeman entered into a contract with Stanton and Van Alstyne, by the terms of which the latter firm agreed to sell and for doing so they were to receive certain, commissiond on the property sessed Later in the year, about November, 1902, the real estate men represented to Freeman that they could sell a good deal of additional property including a portion of that belonging to Mrs. Freeman in her own right. And this enlarged sale they represented would not about $40,000 to Freeman and $20,000 deferred payments. At the time there was a mortgage on the ranch of about $40,000 to Freeman and $20,000 deferred payments. At the time of about $40.00 to Freeman and Endos deferred payments. At the time of about $40.00 to Freeman and Endos deferred payments. At the time of about $40.00 to the time of the larger bidder. It was understood that the company revoed to be the larger bidder. It was understood that the company would falk care of the incumbrance against the property. and Stanton and Yan Alstyne told Freeman that the deal was a good one for him and the deal was a good one for him and the read that the property. And Stanton and Yan Alstyne told Freeman the contract of Agril, 1962, became abropated, and then prepared and the Preeman negotiated with his agents for the sale of the lands covered by the and the sale of the lands covered by the and the sale of the lands covered by the and the sale of the lands covered by the and the sale of the lands of the lands erty for $31,000, and she deposited in escorew with the Title Insurance and Trust Company a deed to Freeman, and instructed the company to release it when payment was made.

On December 2 the Inglewood Water Company agreed with Freeman to take over the property as Biretofore stated and put up the purchase price with the Jitle Insurance and Trust Company, and it was agreed that out of that moony $21,000 should be paid to Nora Freeman. "But by the faise and fraudulent representations, claims and pre-tersions, and the fraudulent acts of the plaintiffs, and for no other reason." to quote from the answer, the contract with Nora Freeman was ended, by no-tice of her attorneys, by reason of non-compliance within the time required. This land was required to round out the deal in any event, and Freeman states that by reason of the fraudulent acts of his agents he was obliged to pay $35,500, and did pay that amount, for the property that he could and would have obtained for $3500 less than that amount.

would have obtained for $500 less than that amount.

Having been knocked out in the deal Freeman started to try and put it through without any outside assistance, and did finally make a sale of lands covered by the contract, and with many other concessions, for the sum of $111,000. And that amount, Freeman alleges, was all he received including cash payments, deferred payments and assumption of incumbrances, despite the fact that Stanton and Van Alstyne want to recover companies to the sale that meet went through, and that, in the event of it being held that the sale made was a continuation of the one negotiated by the real estate firm in the first instance, they want $25,000 in addition to the agreed upon commission. This on the piece that they were not acting as agents for Freeman when it came to the purchase of the property, but were acting for themselves and for their own benefit.

Archbishop Riordan Lunched With Bishop Conaty and Will Receive Attention from Local Church.

Archbishop Riordan of San Francisco of the Roman Catholic Church, arrived in the city yesterday, and was the guest of Bishop Conaty for a noon luncheon of an informal nature.

A brother of the archbishop is also visiting Southern California, and they are now together in Pasadena, whither the latter went yesterday afternoon. He says that he is here solely for rest; that his visit has nothing whateve, to do with the "Plous fund," nor with any other matter of importance to the church. He scouts the idea of the Pope establishing a primacy in this country, and denominates the rumor as preposterous.
